

Variables

- Name assigned to memory location or the value stored in it
- Assignment is said to bind a name to a value
- Each variable has a type
- Variable's type defines operations permitted on that variable
- Same variable (name) can be bound to different values, possibly of different types
 - ⇒ variables are said to have dynamic types

Quick tip

`type()` function returns the type of a variable / expression.